United States Senator Penrose Makes a Public Statement.

DIDN'T SIGN OR ENDORSE

A Note for $75,000 in the Defunct Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny Pa.

KNOWS NOTHING OF THE INSTITUTION

Philadelphia. Oct, 31.—United States Senator Penrose made the following statement yesterday in reply to the assertions that he had signed or endorsed a note for $75,000 in the defunct Enterprise National bank, of Allegheny, Pa.

"The statement that a note for $75,000, sgned or endorsed by me, is or at any time was in the Enterprise National bank or was protested is an absolute, malicious falsehood. I never knew anything about the Enterprise National bank, nor did I ever, directly or indirectly, recommend a deposit from the state treasurer. Nor have I ever suggested, recommended or had any relation, direct or indirect, with any similar state deposit in any bank in Pittsburg, or in the county of Allegheny, or elsewhere.

"I have said from the beginning that the politicians and contractors who had benefited by the frauds against the city would be prosecuted for their crimes, It was upon the evidence then in my possession and submitted to Secretary of State Root that he (the latter) advised that the prosecution be instituted I repeat that the prosecution will be instituted, the arrests will be made and the logical result of the facts that have been discovered will be effected.

"I do not know or consider that there is any exigency calling for the arrest during the coming week, and such action at this time might possibly be misunderstood and adversely criticised. I have been waiting for the report of the engineers. Major Gillette and Mr. MacLennan. That report makes inevitable and clear the duty to proceed in such a way that justice—impartial and unrelenting—shall be meted out to all guilty officers, contractors and other concerned.

"The effort to connect me improperly with the state deposits has absolutely no foundation to rest on. I have never interfered in these matters and have never attempted to obtain any personal advantage from any state treasurer in connection with state deposits, The malignant effort to connect me therewith is solely for political campaign purposes."

Senator Penrose's denial was brought out by dispatches from Pittsburg to the effect that "the latest development in the affairs of the looted Enterprise National bank rests in the fact that a record had been found of a protested note signed or endorsed by Senator Penrose. Lee Clark, the suicide cashier, protested it. The note was for $75,000."

Girl Horse Thief Stands off Officers.

Brought to bay by two members of a posse, Minnie Sewering, a girl horse thief took refuge in a mountain gorge and fired more than twenty shots at her pursuers, compelling them to retreat. Under cover of darkness she escaped, and is now presumed to be in the mountains near the state line of Utah and Coloradb.

In company with her sweetheart, Emil Stahl, the girl, who is 17 and the daughter of a wealthy ranchman, eloped. The two took six horses with them. In less than two hours the girl's father organized a posse. During their flight, with the posse in sight, the girl became separated from Stahl. She had three horses with her. Her father, desiring to kill Stahl, kept on after him, and it is reported that Stahl is surrounded. The girl is plentifully supplied with ammunition, and although in an unsettled country, no fears are felt for her safety.

The girl with the golden hair may style up beautifully as a sweetheart, but it is apt to take an income to match her tresses to keep her young as a wife.

High Tribute to Rev. W. M. Rearick.

Whereas, Rev. W. M. Rearick, pastor of the Lutheran charge, composed of White Deer, Mazeppa and Cowan, did on the 16th day of Sept. last, at a meeting of the joint council, convened at Mazeppa, tender his resignation to accept a call to the Lutheran church at Bellefonte, which at the earnest request of the pastor, was accepted, therefore be it resolved.

That we manifest our appreciation to the pastor for the gratuitous work done by him in the building of the parsonage, and in the work of repairing the different churches of the pastorate.

That we deeply regret the action taken by Brother Rearick, believing that the church and Sunday school is parting with a man of sterling worth, a man beloved, not only by his own people, but by all who knew him; one who is a faithful and fearless worker in God's vineyard. But while we deeply feel our loss, we feel it will be the gain of his people in his new field of labor.

That, in parting with such an able worker as Mrs. Rearick as a missionary worker in co-operation with her husband and our pastor, the loss to the missionary cause will be deeply felt in the pastorate.

That we as a united people, in behalf of our good brother and family, follow them with our united prayers for their success in their new field of labor.

That a copy of these resolutions be presented to Brother Rearick and wife; that they be recorded on the minutes of the respective congregations, and that they be published in the county papers.—J. A Ranck, White Deer; W. M. Miller Mazeppa; J. H. Anderson, Cowan; committee.

Girl-Wife Fears For Old Husband's Sanity.

"Dr. Grubbs promised to provide for my whole family and give them chicken for every meal. He said he could get me into society, and when he was dead I would be Mrs. Grubbs, and could do as I pleased with his money. I guess that is why I married him."

Imprisoned in her parents' home, in McKeesport, Myrtle Grubbs, the girl wife of old Dr. Grubbs, the preacher, talked freely of her elopement and her reasons for it. She also declared that she feared he would lose his reason if she had the marriage annulled, as he had planned by her parents.

"I think I ought to live with him a little while, continued the girl, "and if we couldn't get along, I could come home again."

Dr. Grubbs called at the house five times in one day, but was denied admittance.

However, it is said friends of his have been permitted to see the girl, and there may be reconciliation.

Dr. Grubbs says the excitment has made him several years younger, and he will carry his fight to the courts.

"We have been baptized in the spirit," he said, "We went to the river, and before a hundred persons she immersed me and I immersed her, and oh it was so glorious. We were so happy."

The Shooting Affray at Scotia.

Mr. G. W. Williams, of Scotia, the father of Ralph Williams, the 13 year old lad who was shot and killed by Bert Delige at Scotia Friday October 20th, wishes us to correct the statement attributed to Mr. Williams "that a number of the boys in the school were taunting the Negro." This is not correct as we have since learned and we gladly make the correction.

Delige is still in jail to await trial at the November term of court.

Ralph Williams was the son of George W. and Ella B. Williams and was born at Scotia. His age was 13 years, 3 months and 27 days. He was a bright boy and was liked by his companions and the neighborhood in general. The funeral took place Monday October 23 at 11 o'clock. Interment at Pine Hall.

In the Toils of the Law.

Daniel Shears, aged about 66 years, an old soldier who came to this neighborhood last summer from Towanda, says the Philipsburg Journal, was arrested at the latter place on Tuesday on the charge of stealing a horse from William Peters living near Gearhartville. The horse was taken from the field on the evening of September 2. Officers have since been on the trail of Sheare, who is believed to be the guilty man, and he was captured at his old home. Officer Charles McMullen went to Towanda and returned to Philipsburg with the prisoner. He admits stealing the horse, but says he traded for another at Lock Haven, later on he traded again, and then sold the one he secured in the last deal for $4.50

THE COMMISSIONERS AND THE BRIDGES.

Ever since the nominations were made for County Offices last spring, the Democratic papers have tried to pick flaws in the management of the Commissioners' Office by the present board

After spending all summer what they call a close investigation of the County records and annual statements' these smart politicians found that the County finances had been so well handled by the present Commissioners that they could only be attacked by means of a deception. Noticing that more money than usual had been spent during the past two years for what is called "County Bridge Work," they decided to cry "extravagance" upon that point, trusting that the voters could be deceived until after the election.

During the last two sessions of the Legislature some half dozen acts were passed, each one of which added to the liability of every county in the State to spend its money on bridges, which, before the passage of these acts, had been expended from money raised by means of township taxation.

Since these acts have been in effect the present board of Commissioners have been in office, and, during the years of 1903 and 1904, Messrs. Miller, Bailey and Meyer have authorized and spent the sum of $19,133.41 among sixteen districts of the county Each piece of work having been done only on the petition and at the earnest solicitation of the tax payers resident in each locality. No bridge contract was let which was not absolutely necessary and which had not been approved by the Grand Jury at a regular session of court, as well as by the court itself. And, no protest has ever been made to the Commissioners against any portion of the work so done by them.

Following is a detailed statement of the amounts spent during these years, showing the districts in which the work was done, their average road tax for 1903 and 1904, the valuation in each for county purposes, the amount spent in each district, and the additional millage it would have been necessary for each district to levy had the spending of the county funds not saved what would have been each district's necessary expense.

Districts	Average road tax for 1903 4	Valuation for 1904	Amount spent on bridges	Additional millage necessary.
Boggs Township	9 ½	$ 304,896.	$ 2286 72	7 ½
Burnside "	9	43,489.	3849 96	88 ½
College "	4	470,601.	1233.67	2 ½
Ferguson "	5	612,120.	1377 27	2 ½
Haines "	3 ½	545 920.	1501.28	2 ½
Howard "	11	152,639.	318 71	2
Liberty "	9 ½	225,248.	2123.02	9 2 5
Rush "	11 ½	240,694.	3203 87	13 1 5
Snow Shoe "	10	221.381.	891.69	4
Unionville	6	69,285.	693.63	10
Worth Township	11 ½	96,252.	823.65	8 ½
Gregg "
Penn "
Philipsburg			784 79
Potter "
Spring "
Total Amount spent on bridges			$19133.41

Had Burnside township been forced to spend its own money for bridge work its supervisors would have baen compelled to levy over 88 mills in addition to their usual rate of road tax, Rush township, for its bridge work, would have been called upon to raise over 13 mills of additional road tax: Unionville borough, 10 mills in addition for the same purposes; Liberty township, over 9 mills additional, Worth township, over 8 mills additional; and Snow Shoe township, 4 mills additional, Even townships with a valuation of half a million dollars, as College, Ferguson and Haines, would have found it necessary to increase their road tax by 50 per cent. Howard township would have had to add 2 mills to its road rate to pay for its small amount of work done; though probably Gregg and Penn townships, Philipsburg borough, and Potter and Spring townships might have cared for their bridges by the levy of only one additional mill.

Each voter of these sixteen districts, as well as each voter in the county, should carefully digest this statement, if they care for their future tax rate.

The present board of Commissioners have paid out this nineteen thousand dollars for county bridge work without raising the county millage an iota, by means of careful economy not only in this but in other directions. If a new board is elected, pledged to build no county bridges, even in defiance of the law, could the townships and boroughs afford to pay these expenses? Every township and borough in the county has needed bridges in the past and will need them in the future. Are their citizens anxious to tax themselves for this purpose? How many of these sixteen districts would have been compelled to borrow the money needed and how many who need bridges now and in the future will be compelled to borrow the money to build them, if a new board is elected who will refuse to allow the county funds to be used for this purpose?

New bridges are needed continually throughout every section of the county, some to replace those which are too old for further service and others where new roads are opened. It lies with the voters, Democrat and Republican alike to say whether they favor the course of the present board or whether they choose, to increase their rate of local taxation and build their own bridges.

Female Foot Ball Player.

Should any member of the Michigan foot ball team meet with a fatality resulted in death or disabilty, he may be replaced by an efficient substitute, as far as kicks go, if the matter of sex can be waived under the rules. In Ann Arbor the game numbers among its enthusiasts a young woman of remarkable ability in punting the "pig-skin." She was at it in the home yard the other day when a student passed that way, just as the ball got out of the field and within his reach. He picked it up and kicked it to the fair respondent, who, delighted, booted it back in professional style, sending it high over his head. He made a gallant return. The game is on now, and, gathering her skirts, she paused a moment, breathed hard, there was a flash of hosiery and the sphere rose in the air and never struck the earth again till 35 yards of atmosphere had been traversed. The student admits that he was rendered dizzy with surprise.

—"I never was so disappointed in all my life," declared an irate woman on the street car, "I came down town so Mrs. Smith could tell me a secret she didn't give over the telephone, and what do you suppose it was? Something that I knew long before Mrs. Smith did."

Ate Rat Biscuit.

Singleton Bell, Esq., one of Clearfield's best known attorneys, had an experience with rat biscuit on Friday evening of last week that he will not forget for some time. During the house cleaning period at the Bell home, a rat biscuit was misplaced on the kitchen cupboard, and Mr. Bell, having a longing for some cheese and crackers, went to the cupboard, where both were kept, and by mistake munched the poisoned biscuit. He was taken very ill late at night and for a time his condition was quite alarming. Early this week he was able to be about but was still feeling very weak. It was a close shave for the attorney.

Dead Broke.

A ragged New York hobo quietly boarded the Pennsylvania special, the eighteen-hour flyer, at Harrisburg Monday night and took a seat in one of the velvet chairs in the drawing-room. "Dead broke," he told the conductor, when he was discovered and a demand for his ticket was made. The train could not be stopped to put him off, so he was taken to Altoona and turned over to the police.

He was sentenced to thirty days in jail Tuesday morning.

RAILROAD STORY!

This Latest one from the City of Scranton.

BUYING COAL LANDS

The Purchases Said to be for the Pennsylvania and the Delaware and Hudson Railroad Companies.

EXPLANATION THAT IS GIVEN OUT

Scranton, Pa., November 1.—The "Scranton Tribune" will print a story to the effect that recent heavy purchase of coal lands, in Schuylkill county were made by the Schuylkill Coal and Iron company for the Pennsylvania and Delaware and Hudson railroad companies which, according to the Tribune story are negotiating an amalgamation. The story goes on to say:

"The explanation is made that the organization of the Schuylkill Coal and Iron company, and the acquisition of the new canal lands is but the preliminary step to the amalgamating of the Pennsylvania company and the Delaware and Hudson company, or the absorption of the latter by the former. It is well known that for many years the Pennsylvania road has been hampered by the large freight business between Pittsburg and the other western points to the New England states, and Boston in particular.

"So serious has this congestion been that it has seriously interfered with the work of the Pennsylvania road. A relief was sought in an arrangement with the Delaware and Hudson company by which a great portion of the New England business was transferred to the Delaware and Hudson company and taken to Mechanicsville, N. Y. This arrangement, it is understood, has worked very satisfactorily. The Pennsylvania company is anxious to obtain a foothold in the New England states, which it now reaches by water from New York. Since the working arrangements was made with the Delaware and Hudson company, the question of amalgamating the two companies has been frequently planned. It is but the revival of an old ambition of the Pennsylvania, which could not be realized owing to the difficulty in securing a controlling interest in the stock of the Delaware and Hudson company. Now, however, instead of endeavoring to force a purchase of the majority stock. it is said that mutual arrangements have been agreed upon, whereby it will be to the advantage of the stockholders of the Delaware and Hudson company to become a part of the Pennsylvania system. What these arrangements may be cannot yet be ascertained. As an additional factor in the building up of the new consolidation, the coal lands in the field of the Pennsylvania company, are now being secured by the Delaware and Hudson company, which will then have increased business for the eastern points. It is needless to point out that in the event of such a consolidation the Delaware and Hudson railroad will become a far more important system than it is at present. It will then be a main line between the western states and the New England states with the "powerful influence of the Pennsylvania railroad behind it."

MOSES MONTGOMERY.

Death of One of Bellefonte's Oldest Bank Officials.

In the death of Moses Montgomery Bellefonte has lost one of her best and most substantial citizens. This sad event, mention of which was made in our last issue, occurred at the Bellefonte hospital Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock after an illness of about two weeks duration. Mr. Montgomery had been complaining for some time of severe pains in his abdomen but he stuck to his post of duty at the First National Bank until less than two weeks before his death. He was finally compelled to give up and take his bed. Physicians were summoned and they pronounced his case appendicitis. Saturday last he was taken to the hospital and that evening Dr. Deever, a famous specialist from Philadelphia, performed an operation upon the patient. His condition was such that very little hope was held out for his recovery. Blood poisoning finally set in and he gradually sank until he passed away at the above stated time.

The death of Mr. Montgomery was a terrible shock not only to his family but the entire community. He was known to everyone in the town and vicinity, and his splendid business ability and genial kindly manner won for him the respect and esteem of all. He had not an enemy in the town for "none knew him but love him, nor named him but to praise."

Moses Montgomery belonged to one of Bellefonte's oldest families. He was the son of John and Katherine Montgomery and was born here October 5, 1845. He leaves to mourn their loss three brothers, W. W. Montgomery, postmaster of Bellefonte, Frank C., and Henry, all of this place.

For forty-two years he was connected with the First National Bank of Bellefonte, and at the time of his death was assistant Cashier.

In business transactions he was the soul of honor and it could be truly said of him that his word was as good as his bond.

Ever since he was one month old he has resided in the house which was his residence at the time of his death.

The funeral of the late Moses Montgomery took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence on Allegheny street. There was a large attendance of citizens from all walks of life, anxious to pay a last tribute of respect to the departed.

The services which was very sad and impressive were conducted by Rev. George Israel Brown, rector of St. John's Epicopal church. The floral tributes were numerous and very beautiful and testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held in this community.

The honorary pall-bearers were Messrs. William P. Humes, Charles M. McCurdy, Dr. Geo. F. Harris, H. B. Heylman, John P. Harris, John M. Shugert, John I. Potter, Dr. Joseph Brockerhoff, W. R. Brachbill, James Lane, C. K. Hicklen, James K. Barnhart, Col. James P. Coburn, Isaac Mitchell, Chas. F. Cook, John N. Lane, T. A. Shoemaker, H. C. Valentine, W. L. Malin.

The active pall-bearers were Messrs. John M. Bullock, J. L. Montgomery, J. Fred Montgomery, John C. Bair, Frank K. Lukenbach, James Curtin, J. H. Lingle.

The funeral was in charge of DeLaun Stuart and Newlin Irwin.

The interment was made in the Union cemetery.

Small-pox in East Altoona.

Investigations by the authorities have disclosed the existence of small-pox in East Altoona and steps have been taken to prevent the spread of the disease which is said to have been brought there several weeks ago from Clover Creek. There are said to be six cases, all in mild form, and the patients are now recovering Not one had ever been vaccinated. The true nature of the disease was not discovered until last week, as it was at first thought to be chicken-pox. The houses in which the cases exist have been placed under strict quarantine and it is thought the disease can be confined to their houses and soon stamped out.

Hospital Officers Elected.

The Board of Managers of the Bellefonte Hospital at a recent meeting elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President, C. C. Shuey; Vice President, Dr. J. L. Seibert; Secretary, Geo. R. Meek; Treasurer, W. Harrison Walker.

NARROW ESCAPE FRIDAY

Lighthouse Tender Magnolia With President on Board in Collision

STRUCK FRUIT STEAMER

President Was Unharmed and Later Was Transferred to Another Government Vessel.

FROM IT TO CRUISER WEST VIRGINIA

New Orleans, La., October 28—After a narrow escape from losing his life in an early morning collision in which the lighthouse tender Magnolia, on which he was traveling, was so much damaged that he had to abandon her, President Roosevelt got safely on board the lighthouse tender Ivy, which carried him down the Mississippi to the armored cruiser West Virginia.

Neither the president nor any member of his party was injured in the accident.

Details of the accident are incomplete but immediately after it occurred hurry orders were received at Pilottown, where the lighthouse tenred Ivy was lying, to proceed at once under full head to the scene and take the president and his party to sea.

The Ivy passed Pilottown with the President on board at 8.15 Friday morning on her way to the West Virginia. She was then within an hour and a half of reaching the cruiser's side.

The lighthouse tender Magnolia, with President Roosevelt on board, was in collision with the fruit steamer Esparta shortly after midnight. The news came through a message from Captain W. M. Rose, of the Esparta. Captain Rose reported both vessels aground at the river bank.

Nairn is on the west bank of the Mississippi river. The Esparta belongs to the fleet of the United Fruit company and was on her way to New Orleans with a cargo of bananas, cocoanuts, etc. She was due at Chalmette Friday to discharge her cargo.

A telephone dispatch from Empire, five miles below Nairn, says that the Magnolia passed there at 2:30 o'clock this morning. The right time for her to pass if, there had been no interruption would have been midnight. This news came from the telephone operator.

The tender Ivy with President Roosevelt on board arrived at Port Eads at the mouth of the Mississippi river at 7 o'clock. Ten minutes later the Ivy moved out into the gulf. The weather was fine. President Roosevelt went aboard the cruiser West Virginia at 9:40 o'clock and the cruiser got under way a few minutes afterward.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—No official information has been received at the White House regarding the accident to the lighthouse tender conveying the President down the Mississippi from New Orleans. Secretary Metcalf, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, was at his office early endeavoring to get into telegraphic communication with the lighthouse people at New Orleans.

Although some fear was felt here at first for the President's safety, later reports to the effect that no one on the Magnolia has been seriously hurt tended to allay the anxiety

SNOW MEASURING DEVICE.

Some Important Knowledge Gained Through a New Apparatus.

A new process for measuring the fall of snow has been devised recently by the weather bureau and will be used this winter, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Post. Under the old basis of measurement it has been assumed that ten inches of snow were equivalent to one inch of water. Recent observations have shown, however, that this ratio is not correct. Experiments were made on accumulated winter snow before it had begun to melt. A simple apparatus was planned and placed at a number of points on the headwaters of rivers and at selected localities. The actual depth of the snow was measured at regular intervals and sections were cut out to determine the water equivalent. It was found that instead of the supposed ratio of one to ten the melted snow in some instances showed a ratio to water of five to ten and frequently of three to ten.

The importance of this may be appreciated better when it is realized that the difference of a single inch of water from the drainage basin of a river may mean a flood. It is hoped that the new information will enable the bureau to make more accurate forecasts of sudden inundations.

Indian Summer.

The stillness that doth wait on change here,
Some pause of expectation owns the hour,
And faint and far I hear the sea complain
Where gray and unwritten the headlands tower.

Slow falls the evening of the dying year,
Misty and dim the puthest forests lie,
Chill ocean winds the wasted woodlands grieve,
And earthward loitering the leaves go by.

Behold how nature answers death! O'erhead
The impearled splendor of her summer eves
Lavishes and lost her wealth of sun and sky,
Scarlet and gold, are in her drifting leaves.

Vain pageantry! For this, alas, is death;
Nor may the season's ripe fulfillment chill
Our thronging memories of those who died
With life's young summer promise incomplete.

The dead leaves rustle 'neath my lingering tread,
Low murmuring ever to the spirit ear:
We fade and yet again shall be once more
In the same circuit of the rolling year.

Trust thou the craft of nature. Lo, for thee
A comrade wise she moves, serenely sweet,
With willful prescience mocking sense of loss
For us who mourn love's unreturning feet!

Trust thou her wisdoms she will reconcile
The loitering spirit to eternal change
When, in her hiding woodways thou shalt touch
Dear hands long dead and know them not as strange.

For thee a golden parable she breathes
Where in the mystery of this repose
While death is dreaming life, the waking world
With far caught light of heaven divinely glows.

Thou, when the final loneliness draws near
And earth to earth recalls her tired child,
In the sweet constancy of nature strong
Shalt dream again—how dim the future exile!

Dogs May Not Run Deer.

Judging from the great number of queries that comes to Secretary Kalbfus of the state game commission at Harrisburg, much confusion prevails among hunters of the state as to the new law prohibiting the running of deer by dogs. Many inquirers want to know whether it is unlawful to take dogs into camp. The secretary assures the hunters that there is no law against taking dogs into camp, but that the persons in camp will be held responsible for their dogs.

The bird season which opened Oct. 15, will run six weeks to Dec. 1. The deer season is the last two weeks in Nov. Dogs may be used in hunting birds, but if at any time a dog should pursue a deer for the minimum limit of 100 yards, every member of the camp and the owner of the dog will be liable to prosecution and fine. This applies whether it is the open or the close season for deer. The minimum of 100 yards was fixed to give the hunter time to call off his dogs.

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

BLACK HAND METHODS

Rigid Inquiry Suggested to the Immigration Authorities.

TO KEEP OUT LAWLESS SICILIANS

Broughton Brandenburg Advises That Sergeant Petrosino of New York Be Commissioned to Search Entire Country East of Chicago For Suspects of Criminal Antecedents, With a View to Their Deportation.

A rigid inquiry into the operations of the Black Hand band with a view to deportation has been suggested to the commissioner of immigration, Frank P. Sargent, by Broughton Brandenburg of New York city, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Post. He has written to the commissioner suggesting a canvass of the entire territory east of Chicago with a view to deporting all suspects of that stripe who are found to have criminal antecedents.

Mr. Brandenburg's own investigation of the immigration problem gives his views unusual weight in the minds of the federal officials, and his suggestion is receiving attention. He urges that Detective Sergeant Petrosino of New York be commissioned by the department of commerce and labor to undertake this search, as he credits the Italian detective with qualifications better than are possessed by any other man in the United States for apprehending the lawless Sicilians. "He is the only man who knows them by sight as well as being acquainted with their criminal records," declares Mr. Brandenburg. "He could trail them wherever they might hide and detect them even though they attempted to conceal their identity. If he had once known them they could not escape him."

Commissioner Sargent has not yet had time to consider the suggestion finally, but he regards it with favor. The main trouble in making such deportations, he realizes, will be in tracing those who have gained admittance to the United States under assumed names. Until the department assures itself on this point in each case it cannot place the responsibility as to which steamship company must bear the expense of deportation. In this exigency the personal knowledge which Detective Petrosino possesses might bridge the difficulty.

The commissioner is considering the subject in the light of a similar case which engaged his attention only a few days ago. It was that of a woman suspect living in Cleveland. The investigation disclosed her criminal record and established beyond a doubt, from anarchistic literature and inflammatory correspondence in her possession, that her activities were of a lawless sort and that she should be deported. This action has already been taken.

Representations to the department allege that there are 5,000 Black Hand members in the United States and that an extension of their depredations is imminent. The basis for this prediction is that the increase in the number of foreign lawbreakers has decreased so greatly the opportunities for preying upon their own countrymen among the immigrants that they are making their threats indiscriminately. It is pointed out that the Mafia, of which the Black Hand is a sort of Sicilian offshoot, was originally devoted to the vendetta, but spread out into lawlessness without tinge of so called "honor" to be avenged. The newer band has gone even further in its disregard of methods.

Commissioner Sargent believes that these developments emphasize the necessity, upon which he commented in his last annual report, for a stricter surveillance over immigration. He sees increasing need for more thorough protection against foreign anarchists seeking asylum in the United States, and favors reaching an understanding with foreign governments to require a vised passport from every immigrant. Desirable newcomers would have no difficulty in procuring such official recommendation in their home country. Were a passport to be issued willfully abroad to get a criminal out of the country he would have to run such great risk of identification and deportation here that he would probably turn in another direction. At present New York is the easy refuge appealing most strongly to the least desirable immigrants.

NAVIGATING THE CANAL

Engineer Tells How Ships Will Go Through Panama Ditch.

YEARS BEFORE TRIP CAN BE MADE

William Barclay Parsons Says It Will Require From Six to Ten Years, According to Type of Canal Built—Why Large Steamers Cannot Pass Each Other In Regular Channel—Sidings For Ships.

How the proposed isthmian waterway can be navigated is thus described by William Barclay Parsons, the well known engineer, in his article on "The Panama Canal" in the November Century:

To make it possible to pass a ship from ocean to ocean, even by a high level design, will require from six to eight years, and by one at sea level ten years, though possibly twelve.

Which of the two types, all things considered, is the better is a question requiring great thought for the proper answer. On the one hand, there are required a greatly increased investment of capital and some delay in time, although the latter in the life of such an enterprise is probably of small amount. The deciding factor will probably be the practical usefulness of the type when completed.

No matter what the design, the canal cannot be navigated its entire length by large steamers with the freedom that they pass up and down a broad river. It is contemplated that the width of the canal at the bottom shall be about 150 feet, giving a width on the surface of from 200 to 350 feet, according to the flatness of the side slopes, dependent on the varying local character of the rock or earth through which the canal will be dug. As large modern steamers have a beam of seventy-five feet, it is obvious that two such vessels cannot pass each other in the regular channel.

On arriving at either terminus the ship will report to the harbor master for a permit to pass, and, if she be a sailing vessel, for a tug to take her through. After an inspection, the taking on of coal, supplies and a pilot, and being measured for and paying toll charges, the vessel will then receive an order entitling her to proceed. This order will be like a train order on a single track railway, giving authority to go to a certain point, and there either to meet and pass a ship coming from the other end or to draw to one side and permit the other ship to pass or to get other orders to proceed farther.

The passing of ships will be arranged by constructing "sidings"—that is, widenings of the channel into which a vessel can draw and moor to clusters of piles. When the passing is made the vessel then advances to the next siding where a vessel is expected, all of which will be controlled by telegraphic orders from a central dispatcher's office, where there will be a chart showing the exact position of any ship at any time, corrected instantly by advices received from the local stations. Along the banks there will be semaphore signals by day and lights by night, indicating the position of obstructions or vessels ahead, so as to prevent collisions.

On arriving at a lock the steamer will find a structure similar in principle to the small canal locks with which the reader is familiar, but vastly larger. These locks will have a length of about 1,000 feet and a width in the clear of 100 feet, in order to accommodate not only the steamers 800 feet long now building, but to allow for such increase in size as may be realized. The gates closing the locks at the downstream end will have a height equal to the depth of the canal, the height to lift, and, say, 10 feet of surplus, or a total of 75 to perhaps 100 feet, according to conditions—dimensions far in excess of those of any other lock gates in the world. As soon as the lock is entered and the ship made fast so that it cannot be moved about by the in or out rushing water and yet may rise or fall with the change of level, the great gates behind her will be closed and water admitted into the lock from the higher level or drawn off into the lower as the vessel is ascending or descending.

When the new level is reached the other gates are opened, and once more the vessel continues her journey between banks crowded to the water's edge with the wild tangle of a tropical jungle or the long leafed banana trees set out in regular rows in plantations. On arriving at the far terminus the pilot is dropped and the vessel disappears at sea.

Orchid Craze In Chicago Society.

Interest in orchids is growing to such an extent in social circles in Chicago that it seems other blooms will stand a slim chance of being used for decorations this season. Mrs. Pullman is an enthusiast and has an orchid collection which for cost leaves a stable of thoroughbreds in the shade. This year's flower show of the Horticultural society promises to be the finest that city has had, and treasures in the orchid line will be displayed. Mrs. Pullman says that for the pollen dust of some of her rare varieties of orchids she has paid as high as several thousand dollars, and she expects there will be great interest when some of her plants are seen.

Football Team of Girls.

Wellesley college girls are organizing a football team with the intention if possible of playing other female college teams or high school girls, says a Wellesley (Mass.) special to the Pittsburg Dispatch. They have been getting pointers from the husky high school boy teams and more or less coaching. The college authorities are keeping the matter the strictest secret, and the story only leaked out inadvertently when one girl was discussing a recent high school game she witnessed.

GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND.

How Their Claims Were Established In the Middle Ages.

A curious meeting was held in Lyons on Jan. 4, 1699. The royal commissioners solemnly sat in council to decide the question if lawyers and doctors could be regarded as gentlemen. It proved too hard a problem for the wise heads, and the doctors and lawyers themselves were summoned to prove their right to gentility. The matter was settled to the satisfaction of the professional parties.

In the middle ages of England heralds went through the counties to examine into the claims of landholders to be called gentlemen. There is in existence an interesting list of the disqualified, and one reads today the shame of a certain Thomas Robbins who failed to establish the title and was writ among the ignoble. Charles Anscote, a representative of one of the oldest families, is registered as "entitled to be styled a gentleman, although worth not more than £500."

Brooke, an old writer, has given the world his opinion of what constitutes a gentleman, and his definition has never been excelled:

"The character, or, rather, quality, of a gentleman does not in any degree depend on fashion or mode or state or opinion; neither does it change with customs, climates or ages. But, as the spirit of God alone can inspire it, so it is that quality of heart which is the same yesterday, today and forever."

Training an Orator.

It seems at one period the Lewa orator shut himself in a dark room, wrapped a plaid round him, lay on his back and placed a large stone on the pit of his stomach. After about from twelve to twenty-four hours of this he was ready for his speech.—London Saturday Review.

Miniature Autos on Bracelets.

Speaking of the trend of fashion in different directions word comes from abroad that one of the newest fads, which is unique in its freakishness, is the automobile bracelet, says a writer in the New York Press. It is composed of a chain made up entirely of tiny gold and jeweled motor cars. The lamps are composed of tiny diamonds, and every detail is carefully carried out. In spite of the value of the jewels and metals employed the real cost of such a bit of jewelry comes from the workmanship.

TOUCH OF NATURE SEE US.

Austrian's Account of Noble Simplicity of the White House.

A description by a foreigner of President Roosevelt and the White House was recently communicated to the Viennese public by Hofrat Dr. Jacob Minor, who is publishing the records of his American travels in the columns of the Neue Freie Presse of Vienna.

"The White House in Washington," says the court doctor, "will always remain something never to be forgotten, not only on account of the honor paid us by the president at our reception, but also on account of its noble simplicity and the grand style in which it is furnished. It is the true pattern of an American house, in which everything necessary is close at hand, but in which there is nothing superfluous. And with what simple formalities was our reception by the president carried out—a somewhat numerous but noiseless company of attendants in the anteroom and no police, no military! In the reception room itself there was no one present but we ourselves, the visitors, introduced by the president and vice president. Soon the doors open, and Roosevelt appears between two civilians, evidently secretaries—adjutants, perhaps, I should say.

"He showed great animation in his answer to the president of congress, who first addressed him, leaning forward, with his right foot well advanced, gesticulating vivaciously and articulating his words sharply, almost snapping his teeth together while speaking. The impression one at once feels from him is that of some elemental force of nature, and this feeling is increased when the ordinary round of visitors with its accompanying handshakings is begun, something corresponding to what is known in the style of European courts as a cercle. Only here it is not merely a case of a question put by the audience giver and a more or less sensible answer returned by the person receiving the audience. A very animated conversation is often developed, into which the president draws those who stand around him or the adjutants by his side. Very soon he is heard laughing a bit too loudly; now he gives a man a hearty clap on the shoulder that is almost audible; then again he brings his hands together with a smack. There is nothing in the way of majesty about him; one feels that he lets himself go completely and then again remarks that behind this almost savage nature force is concealed a consummate diplomatist. The president addressed me with a foreign accent, but said, in faultlessly correct German, 'I don't speak a word of German, it is true, but I read German a great deal and like German poetry beyond anything.'"

SUITABLE CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

Suggestions In Marking Presents and Selecting Silver.

Individuality should be the one thing looked for in Christmas gifts, says Harper's Bazar. They should be the particular thing the recipient desires, if possible, and if there is anything that can be marked it should be. One handkerchief marked with all the initials is worth half a dozen bought with a single initial which any one might have. Everything is marked this year, the lingerie and even fine shirt waists in tiny handkerchief letters. It only costs a few cents a letter to do this.

Silver is among the most satisfactory of gifts purchased, and there has been a reaction from the cheap silver of a few years ago. A good piece bearing the mark of a reliable firm is worth half a dozen others and need not be costly.

The "black jack" is something entirely new for the bachelor's den. It comes from the silversmith and is a leather bottle, mug or loving cup, with a setting of silver and lined with copper. These are reproductions of old time pieces now only to be found in collections, and then worth their weight in gold. The new ones can be bought as low as $5. for the smaller pieces. The pocket opera glass in a small case is another acceptable gift for the man who is the most difficult of all Santa Claus' clients.

A Noncombatant.

"I didn't know you were in the show. What's your position there?"

"Neutral."

"How do you mean?"

"I don't side with either faction."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A BIG RAIL-ROAD DEAL!

It is Said One of the Greatest in Recent Years Has Been Consummated

VANDERBITS IS WINNERS

Have Purchased Valuable Interests of the Little Kanawha Syndicate and Property.

VALUABLE LANDS AND RAILROADS

Cincinnati, O., Oct 26.—The Times-Star to day published the following: The Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad company has purchased the Little Kanawha syndicate coal lands and railroads which are in litigation in the United States circuit court of appeals in Cincinnati. The Times-Star has absolute authority on this point. The sale was made by Joseph Ramsey, Jr., former president of the Wabash system. Mr. Ramsey and Geo. Gould did not differ on this proposition. They appeared together through counsel before Judge John K. Richards Wednesday morning, defending their interests to prevent John Jones, of Chicago, from interfering with the sale. The Pittsburg and Lake Erie is a Vanderbilt line. It will come into the coal fields through Pittsburg. The several railroad lines which are integral parts of the Little Kanawha will be used by the Vanderbilt to make a new line through Virginia to the Atlantic seaboard.

This is one of the greatest railroad deals of recent years. The supposition has been that the Vanderbilts were after the property but an absolute statement to that effect was withheld from the public until this time. Judge Richards will decide on Thursday the question of the right of Mr. Jones to stop the sale and to have a receiver appointed for the Little Kanawaha syndicate property.

The property which the Vanderbilts thus acquire is composed of the Little Kanawha railroad company, the Parkersbridge and Terminal company, which had a charter to bridge the Ohio at that city; the Burnsville and Eastern, the Buckhannon and Northern, the Bellington and Northern, the Zanesville, Marietta and Parkersburg and the Marietta, Columbus and Cleveland.

In addition there are 50,000 acres of coal land near Fairmont and 35,000 acres in Gilmer, Braxton and Lewis counties. These lands are in the central part of the state. They are not near the coal lands sought to be reached by the Zimmerman Holland interests through the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton line, which is a J. Pierpoint Morgan interest. It is understood that the Vanderbilts, with their new property, will co-operate directly with the Chesapeake and Ohio.

The Gould-Ramsey interests deny waste of property or extravagance of management. Their control includes all of the $8,500,000 concerned excepting the $100,000 subscribed by Mr. Jones.

In the trust thus imposed in them are the subscriptions of their closest friends and they quote the fact as proof that in no sense have they permitted the property to become reduced in value.

"Take care of the pennies and the pounds will take care of themselves." Large things are but an aggregation of small things. If we take care of the small things we are in effect taking care of the large things which the small things combine to make. Take care of what you eat, when you eat, and how you eat, and your stomach will take care of itself. But who takes care of such trivial things? That is why, someday, the majority of people have to take care of the stomach. When that day comes, there is no aid so effective in undoing the results of past carelessness as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the stomach, and restores the organs of digestion and nutrition to a condition of healthy activity.

It cures biliousness, heartburn, flatulence, indigestion, palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities and a score of other ailments which are but the symptoms of disorder in the stomach and it allied organs.

EDITORIAL.

Henry Kline is the man physically to fill the office of Sheriff.

Vote in favor of an honest audit through Pontius and Musser.

Lincoln A. Swartz, the farmer, will make a good county treasurer. Give him your support.

Let every Republican aim to get one more vote in addition to his own. That will tell the story,

The business affairs of the county are important to every taxpayer. See that Miller and Bailey get your vote

The farmers of Centre county who were so totally ignored by the triumvirate democracy at their last county convention should do as they did last year, cast their ballots in favor of supporting President Roosevelts administration, continued prosperity, the continued employment of labor at fair wages and good prices and a ready market for all the products of the farm.

Notwithstanding the abuse heaped upon Abram V. Miller, whom the Democratic papers have apparently singled out for their special attention, he is today one of the strongest candidates on the Republican ticket. Some mud will stick till after election, but in the case of Mr. Miller it has all dried and fallen off of itself. Therefore so live that if evil men accuse thee, the world will not believe them.

Earle Tuten, candidate for register, is a poor man who has a family. He has never held office but is none the less competent to fill any in the gift of the people of the county, and though he has been a faithful worker for his party, he is not offensive and has always striven to give every man a square deal. Vote for him and you will find him one of the most obliging men that ever took the oath of office.—Keystone Gazette.

CLEAN AND STRONG.

We want to say to the reader, no matter what his politics, that the candidates on the Republican state and county tickets will bear the closest scrutiny and are worthy of the most careful man's support. The ticket is clean and strong from top to bottom. There is no reason whatever for any Republican voter to hesitate a moment as to his duty in supporting the ticket in its entirety, for it is uniformly acceptable and deserves to win. Of J. Lee Plummer's fitness as a candidate and eminence as a citizen all will agree except that small classes of disappointed and disgruntled would be bosses in Philadelphia, who are attracting attention to themselves this year more particularly on account of the weakness than anything else. Mr. Plummer's majority will not suffer to any appreciable extent by reason of this small clique. Indeed, the failure of their movement is so pronounced that it is rapidly becoming a subject of ridicule throughout the state.

The excellence of the judiciary ticket, with such names as John Stewart for the Supreme Court, Charles E. Rice, James A. Beaver and George B. Orlady for the Superior Bench, ought to impress all classes of voters. These men are now on the bench where their wise and just interpretation of the law has already drawn the approving attention of the public.

The Republicans of Centre county should lend every energy to poll their full vote and thus insure the best possible results. The opposition has been making a campaign of clatter and deception in the hope of creating a panic in the Republican ranks, but they have been successful only in making a noise.

In this county the voters should turn their attention to the local ticket and put forth every endeavor for its success at the polls. With such men as Henry Kline, for Sheriff; Lincoln A. Swartz, for Tresurer; John G. Bailey and Abram V. Miller for Commissioners; Earle C. Tuten, for Register; Cyrus T. Hall, for Recorder and Pontius and Musser for Auditors there should be every encouragement on the part of the voters, for a better array of candidates was never submitted to the voters of Centre county.

If the vote be gotten to the polls in full there is every reason to expect a triumph, and with this in view Republicans should renew their efforts all along the line and keep it up until the polls close on Tuesday next.

The Centre County Republican convention never named a better candidate for register than Earle C. Tuten, of Bellefonte. Though a young man, he is one of our active and aggressive Republican leaders. He is intellectually equipped for any office in the county and his varied experience in business life adds largely to his natural ability. Mr. Tuten is a young man without means, but, ability and courage. He is a married man and the only support of an aged and infirm father, who for over thirty-one years as editor of the Bellefonte Republican, labored hard for every interest that was for the welfare and promotion of the people of this community. Earle Tuten is conducting his campaign alone and in a legitimate, honorable manner. His personal character is equal to that of his Democratic opponent. He is worthy the support of every voter in the county who is desirous of seeing their interest protected by a deserving, honorable young man. He is an up-to-date man, wide-awake, energetic and trustworthy. He will serve you well and will administer the affairs of the office to which he aspires in a way that is sure to win the approval of all concerned.—Keystone Gazette.

Henry Kline, the Republican candidate for Sheriff is a farmer and a tenant farmer at that. He is a poor man but is splendidly equipped physically and intellectually for the office of Sheriff. Where duty calls him he will always be found. There will be no danger of a repetition of the Condo tragedy during his term of office

Philadelphia's "Old Continental" Begins LifeAnew.

The Continental Hotel in Philadelphia has been lifted clear out of all semblance to its old self. At a cost of over $150,000 Mr. H. E. Maltby, who took possession of the famous old hostelry in May, has been busily at work in renovating it since the 1st of June.

Not only has it been remodelled, but new furniture has been installed throughout, and everything looking to the comfort of guests has been done. On the first floor the walls of the exchange, corridors, cafe, barber shop and reception room have been torn away and rebuilt in solid marble.

On the second floor many of the rooms which were formerly en suite have been converted into ladies' salons, lounging-rooms, men's smoking and reading rooms and private dining-rooms. In the matter of these private dining-rooms Mr. Maltby has made it a point to have them equal the best in the city. They are beautifully decorated, the furnishings being in Flemish oak and solid mahogany and the walls have been finished in approved style, with decorations and paintings calculated to appeal to the most critical eye.

All corridors on each of the five floors have been redecorated and in many places widened several feet. At regular intervals throughout their length appear landscape paintings and a variety of others of large dimensions.

Arabian curtains, with the Maltby crest as a centrepiece, have been hung in all the windows, while they, as well as the doorways, have been draped with heavy portieres.

To add to the amusement of future guests a seven-piece orchestra has been installed. Afternoon and evening concerts will be the order in the future.

In addition to the other improvements, many of the windows have been torn away, and in their place colored glass has been installed. Handsome chandeliers replace those of former times, and in each of the 540 rooms of the hostelry they have been suspended from the centre of the ceilings, and add much to the beauty of the decorations.

To add to the safety of guests fire escapes of the newest design have been placed at the four corners of the building and are easily accessible from all floors.

These improvements mark a new epoch in the old Continental's history, and hundreds of its patrons are sending in congratulatory notes to Mr. Maltby from all parts of the country.

BE SURE TO VOTE.

We wish to urge every Republican voter in Centre County to go to the polls on election day and vote the straight Republican ticket. It is only a few days until the day of election, and as there is almost a full county ticket to be chosen this year, it is highy important that special interest be taken in selecting good and capable men for the several offices to be filled. The Republicans have a splendid local ticket and we heartily commend to the voters of this county every man on it. The Republican State ticket is also composed of excellent men of high character and there should be no question as to their election by the usual majority. Let every effort be made to get out the Republican vote for the whole ticket.

For two campaigns our friends, the enemy, have scrutinized every act in the life of John G. Bailey, and up to this writing they have not found a single thing against him that had the semblance of truth to it or that was worth publishing. When you have men like this to run for office it is a compliment alike to the party and the people of the county. It is so often that men like he do not care to dabble in politics on account of the necessary publicity it brings upon them and the unfair criticisms they invite, and when we do get them out it is the duty of the good people of the county to stand by them in order that other good men in either party may not be discouraged in the attempt to raise public office above suspicion.

VOTE The Whole REPUBLICAN TICKET

In all business the RISK is taken into consideration. In the business of Centre county Dunlap and Weaver would be a DANGEROUS RISK.

THE OLD FOLKS AT HOME

Are Never Without Pe-ru-na in the Home for Catarrhal Diseases.

Remarkable Cures Effected By Pe-ru-na.

Under date of January 16, 1897, Dr. Hartman received the following letter:

"My wife has been a sufferer from a complication of diseases for the past twenty-five years. Her case has baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians. One of her worst troubles was chronic constipation of several years' standing. She was also passing through that most critical period in the life of a woman—change of life.

"In June, 1895, I wrote to you about her case. You advised a course of Peruna and Manalin, which we at once commenced, and have to say it completely cured her.

"About the same time I wrote you about my own case of catarrh, which had been of twenty-five years' standing. At times I was almost past going. I commenced to use Peruna according to your instructions and continued its use for about a year, and it has completely cured me. Your remedies do all that you claim for them, and even more."—John O. Atkinson.

In a letter dated January 1, 1900, Mr. Atkinson says, after five years' experience with Peruna:

"I will ever continue to speak a good word for Peruna. I am still cured of catarrh."—John O. Atkinson, Independence, Mo., Box 272.

Mrs. Alla Schwandt, Sanborn, Minn., writes:

"I have been troubled with rheumatism and catarrh for twenty-five years. Could not sleep day or night. After having used Peruna I can sleep and nothing bothers me now. If I ever am affected with any kind of sickness Peruna will be the medicine I shall use. My son was cured of catarrh of the larynx by Peruna."—Mrs. Alla Schwandt.

Why Old People are Especially Liable to Systemic Catarrh.

When old age comes on, catarrhal diseases come also. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people.

This explains why Peruna has become so indispensable to old people. Peruna is their safeguard. Peruna is the only remedy yet devised that entirely meets these cases. Nothing but an effective systemic remedy can cure them.

A reward of $10,000 has been deposited in the Market Exchange Bank, Columbus, Ohio, as a guarantee that the above testimonials are genuine; that we hold in our possession authentic letters certifying to the same. REPUBLICANS READY

State Chairman Andrews Predicts a Big Victory On Tuesday Next.

ALL THE ISSUES SQUARELY MET

Reports Received From Every County Are of the Most Gratifying Character.

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, Oct. 31.

Republicans of Pennsylvania are certain to give a good account of themselves at the election on Tuesday next.

Pennsylvania expects every man to do his duty, and there will be no default when the time comes for action.

The campaign which is about to close has been less exciting than many that have taken place in recent years, but the Republican hosts are not taking anything for granted, and they will meet their old political enemies in the battle of the ballots with their old-time determination to rout every foe of Republicanism, no matter under what name he shall be listed for the fray.

The Republicans of the Keystone state expect to elect their entire ticket by more than the customary off-year majorities. They have candidates of exceptional strength and they have met every issue squarely and fairly as it has been presented, and they have nothing to apologize for or to explain.

J. Lee Plummer, the nominee for state treasurer, has been before the people of this state for years, and there has not been a truthful word uttered in derogation of his character.

The state campaign has been waged systematically and with close attention to every detail by Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, and he has every reason to be pleased with the reports that come to him from every county in the state.

No Political Issue Here.

In the closing days of the canvass a desperate attempt is being made to inject the failure of the Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny into the political campaign.

There is no justification for this.

The reason for the bank failure seems to be clear enough. The cashier manipulated the deposits, loaned the funds on his own account and was personally interested in various schemes for which he seems to have furnished money. It has been discovered that collateral that was deposited with him to safeguard the loans of patrons has disappeared—has been rehypothecated to save the cashier's enterprise. A great ado has been made over the fact that a development company that has been promoting a railroad enterprise in New Mexico in which W. H. Andrews and some Pittsburg capitalists are interested got money from the institution

The capitalists, it has been shown, are amply able to make good all their paper, but the fact that Andrews some years ago was a political leader in Pennsylvania and that one of his colleagues, Mr. Kennedy, at one time was a state senator, was quite sufficient to float charges that the bank was a political institution; that it received state moneys on the condition that politicians should be granted loans, and so on.

It is the same old familiar talk with which defamers of Pennsylvania have regaled the people for years past, but there is not a particle of evidence to support the charges

Under law numerous banks are designated as depositories for state money, and the Enterprise bank has been on the list for years. It was supposed to be exceptionally strong. It is certain that the state is fully protected, and that not a single penny will be lost by the failure.

It may take a few days to get down to all of the details, but in the course of time they will all come out. Governor Pennypacker has written to President Roosevelt asking for a complete investigation and offering all the aid in his power. By taking this step he makes it apparent that he has every confidence in the administration of the treasury department and that there is nothing whatever to conceal. Treasurer Mathues has made public a list of the depositories for the sinking fund, and has been perfectly frank in his explanations of the method of placing state funds.

State Never Lost.

Opponents of the Republican party cannot be prevented from manufacturing falsehoods to serve partisan ends, but the fact still remains that under Republican management Pennsylvania has never lost a cent through its treasury department, and J. Lee Plummer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, is entitled to the respect and the confidence of the public when he says:

"If I am elected state treasurer I shall conduct the office on strict business lines. I shall be most careful and rigorous in exacting adequate security from all depositories of state funds. No political influence shall govern or control me in my selection of depositories. I have no political promises to keep and no political engagements to fulfill."

On the strength of the bank failure the Democrats have perked up and through their state committee are claiming about everything in sight. It is the assertion of Colonel Guffey that Berry, the Democratic candidate for state treasurer, will come to Philadelphia with 60,000 majority.

This assertion is promptly met by Chairman Andrews, of the Republican state committee, whose figures show fully 100,000 majority in the state outside of Philadelphia.

NOT GENUINE REFORM

Philadelphia Situation Discloses Violation of Many of Mayor Weaver's Pledges.

POLICE AND FIREMEN DRAGOONED

Patronage of the City Administration Now Under Wanamaker Domination in Great Game of Politics.

(Special Correspondence.)

Philadelphia, Oct. 31.

The political situation in this city is attracting widespread attention and it is believed that the facts of the case are becoming pretty generally known.

The mask of reform has been torn from the managers of the City Party. The people are now alive to the issue and they know who are behind the campaign to defeat the Republican local ticket and to swing votes to the Democratic - Free Trade - Prohibition candidate for state treasurer, William H. Berry.

It is the old story of Wanamakerism versus Republicanism.

The late Senator Quay was confronted with the same antagonistic political power, the same newspaper combine and the same money-bags, but under the banner of loyal Republicanism he and his party were triumphant in the end.

Wanamakerism was crushed for the time, but it has reappeared and is exerting its subtle influence to destroy the Republican organization in city and state.

But it cannot prevail.

Mayor Weaver, after having been for two years the target of the Wanamaker newspapers, surrendered and is now a subservient and truckling slave to the men who but a few months ago branded him as a liar, a coward and a knave.

He has deserted the Republican party and is using "the full power" of his administration in an effort to defeat the Republican ticket.

Weaver's Usefulness Ended.

When Mayor Weaver fell into the clutches of Wanamaker and his director general, James Gay Gordon, Democrat, his usefulness to the people came to an abrupt end. He had made fulseme premises. Not a policeman was to be permitted in politics. Not a city employe was to be coerced.

But principles and promises have been trampled upon in the wild quest for the satisfaction of personal ambition.

The police force has become a political organization to be swung under the direction of Director Potter.

The fire department is a political machine.

Policemen dismissed from the force have been restored upon pledges of support to the City Party.

But the other day a lodging house keeper, under bail for trial on charges of keeping a disorderly house, was forgiven and put back in business on promises to turn in for the "reform" candidates.

A Reign of Terror.

Throughout the departments in the City Hall a reign of terror has been instituted. The orders have gone into every bureau, "Carry the flag of the Wanamaker-Gordon-Weaver Combine or get out."

The very able head of the Department of Health, Dr. Edward Martin, was forced to resign because a politician of unsavory record, a former law partner of Mr. Gordon, was thrust into office as his assistant with full power to disrupt the medical force and the force of inspectors and club the men into the support of the City Party candidates or club them out of their positions.

To cap the climax of intrigue, of duplicity, the mayor at this late day makes one of his gallery plays by insisting that the city employes shall not make contributions, but he fails to inform the people that he has done this only after the political assessments have all been made to the City Party.

The Newspaper Combine.

In the present campaign the Wanamaker newspapers have sunk to the very lowest level that a public journal can possibly reach. They refuse to print actual news unless they are paid for it, and through their clearing house for political falsehood they distort occurrences and manufacture events.

Perhaps the most daring thing done in this line was the glaring display in big type of a political address said to have been delivered at a City Party meeting in the 27th ward one night last week. They not only described the gathering and the great enthusiasm, but placed in the mouth of Dr. Leonard Pearson, state veterinarian and head of the veterinary department of the University of Pennsylvania, scathing words against the Republican candidates. As a matter of fact, Dr. Pearson was at home and never knew there was such a meeting. Nor did anybody else. He is a straight Republican.

But newspaper mendacity is a small matter compared with the utter abandonment of every reform principle by the Wanamaker-Gordon-Weaver combine.

Short Cut From Sweetheart Fatal.

Staying too long at the home of a young woman upon whom he had been calling, Oscar Houtz, a Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, took a short cut through the railroad yards at Altoona in order to get to work on time. A few hours later his lifeless body was found along the tracks, he having been struck by a train. He was aged 22 years and his home was in Mifflintown.

Shucharts of Snow Shoe. The bride is a very pretty and charming young lady and was beautifully attired in a dress of blue mohair. MYSTERY IS SOLVED.

Boston, October 30.—That the dismembered body found in a suit case at Winthrop on September 21 is that of Susan Geary, of Cambridge, is the belief of the girl's family and friends and of the Boston police department. Miss Geary, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Geary was a chorus girl of "The Shepherd King" company, and was known on the stage as Ethel Durrell. She was 21 years of age. Mrs. Geary Sunday identified three rings taken from the right hand found in the second dress suit case picked up near the New Charlestown bridge on Friday last, as those worn by her daughter when she absented herself from the thestrical company on September 10. Confirmation of Miss Geary's disappearance from the company came from Morris Nathan, secretary to the manager of the company, and to whom Miss Geary was engaged, Mr. Nathan is now in Pittsburg, Pa. According to Nathan, Miss Geary parted from him on the best of terms after the company closed its last engagement in this city, and he supposed, he said that he should see her at the next performance in Lowell on the following day. Instead, however, a message was received by the company's manager from P. A. Smith, M. D. Boston, which stated that "Miss Durrell" was suffering from stomach trouble and would be unable to report for several days.

Miss Geary dropped out of sight after that and so far as the police are concerned they have been unable to find anyone who either saw or communicated with the girl. Ten days later, on September 21, a dress suit case in which was the torso of a young woman, was found floating in the harbor near the Winthrop yacht club, about three miles below the city, and on Friday last another suit case, containing the arms and legs of the victim, was taken from the water off the city docks, near the new Charlestown bridge, over the Charles river. On the fingers of the right hand were three rings, which gave the police the first tangible clew in the case. It was found that Mrs. Geary had a missing daughter whose description tallied with that of the suit case victim. Mrs. Geary and her two daughters described the rings and afterwards positively identified them as belonging to Susan Geary.

The police than turned their attention to the search for the person responsible for the dismemberment of the body but so far little progress in that direction has been made. Mrs. Geary declared to-day that when she last saw her daughter the latter complained of pains in the side and Mrs. Geary suggested to-day that she might have been operated upon for appendicitis and that the doctor, being unsuccessful in the operation, cut her up.

As soon as Mrs. Geary's suspicions were confirmed by the description of the rings a message was sent Mr. Nathan, at Pittsburg, asking him to come to Boston and bring the note signed "P. A. Smith, M. D., Boston." Nathan states that Miss Durrell did not join the company at Lowell; that an investigation was started in order to locate Smith. but that no trace of him could be found. Since then Nathan has been in frequent communication with Mrs. Geary, and it is said, urged her to notify the police of the disappearance of her daughter. Mrs. Geary objected on account of the notoriety.

Rev. Andrew Brydie Meets a Horrible Fate.

Rev. Andrew Brydie, an aged Presbyterian pastor, was fatally burned under peculiar and most distressing circumstances on Friday afternoon of last week, at his home at Rochester, New York.

For some years Mr. Brydie had been blind and although quite feeble had been in his usual good health. On Friday afternoon his daughter was reading aloud to him while he was lying on a couch smoking a cigar. Later when left alone his dressing gown became ignited and the garment was soon all ablaze. Miss Brydie hearing his calls for help rushed to his aid and made heroic efforts to save him but to no avail, as he was terribly burned. Several neighbors soon arrived and the flames were finally extinguished. A hurry call to the city hospital was responded to by a hospital ambulance to which place he was taken for treatment. There it was found that he could not survive his terrible injuries. The burns were most severe about the face and breast and the flesh was scorched all the way down the body. He spoke to the members of his family who were at his bedside, saying that he was not in pain and referred to his accident as being so unfortunate. He lingered until about 10:30 o'clock when death came to his relief. His death was due principally to shock.

He was very highly educated, a most proficient and learned man of scholarly attainments and marked ability,

He was aged 76 years and is survived by his wife and four children, two daughters and two sons. As the deceased had always expressed the desire to be buried in Sunbury beside the remains of his son, William, who died while residing there, his body was brought to Sunbury on Tuesday afternoon and taken to Pomfret Manor cemetery. The funeral services were held at the home in Rochester, Monday afternoon and the interment was private. Rev. O. G. Morton had charge of the services at the grave.

Common Errors In Speech.

Who does not make errors in everday speech? As a matter of fact it is very unusual to find any person whose use of the English language is absolutely correct. The following are examples of some very frequent errors of faulty expressions often heard:

"Let you and I go"—should be "you and me."

"I am as good as her"—should be "as she."

"You are younger than me"—should be "than I."

"Come to dinner with John and I"—should be "John and me."

"Between you and I"—should be "you and me."

"Where are you going? Who? Me?—should be "Who? I?

"Who do you see?"—should be "whom."

"If I was her"—should be "If I were she."

"Was it him?"—should be "Was it he?"

"Who was it by"—should be "whom"

These examples of "Faulty Diction" are so common that many people look upon the improper form as being the correct one, and Thomas H. Russell, L. L. B., editor-in-chief of Webster's Imperial Dictionary, has done the public a great service in having written the new book, entitled "Faulty Diction, or errors in the Use of the English Language and How to Correct Them," which the publishers have, by printing it on thin Bible paper, succeeded in getting into what may be called Vest-Pocket size.

Illustrating the comprehensive treatment that has been given the subject by the author, there are 1017 headings treated in the book, under some of which—"plurals" for instance—over fifty errors that are not at all unusual are to be found illustrated and corrected.

It is rarely one's good fortune to become possessed of so valuable a book, and especially one so compact and of as much general interest. It is handsomely bound in embossed Russia leather and will be sent postpaid on receipt of 50c to any address by Geo. W. Ogilvie & Co., Publishers, 169 E. Randolph St., Chicago Ill. They also publish the same book in cloth binding and will send a copy of it in that style on receipt of 25c.

In all business the RISK is taken into consideration. In the business of Centre county Dunlap and Weaver would be a DANGEROUS RISK.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. A REPUBLIC CANNOT SAVE RUSSIA

St. Petersburg, October 26.—As the result of a series of special ministerial councils under the presidency of Count Witte, held to adopt measures to deal with the new national assembly, the laws granting practical freedom of the press and speech and of public meeting, will be promulgated forthwith.

Upon the peremptory demand of Prince Hilkoff, the minister of railroads, the budget covering the renumeration of railroad employes will be revised to meet the promises made last spring. Unless this was done the prince announced that he would resign.

Counte Witte even in advance of the promulgation of his formal appointment as premier completely dominated the situation.

Interesting details have been learned by the Associated Press regarding Count Witte's interview with Emporer Nicholas last week at which it was agreed that the time had come to limit the autocratic power and give the people a real share in the government of the empire.

The emperor asked Count Witte to speak frankly and after listening to the stateman's expert views of the situation he appeared to be utterly un-nerved by the deplorable state of affairs and cried out that he was weary of the struggle and felt like leaving all and fleeing to Darmstadt. Hence, probably, the origin of the report that the emperor was going abroad.

Count Witte, however, told the emperor that in his opinion and even a republic could now save Russia from anarchy. It was the emperor's duty to the people and the country to face the situation by meeting their wishes, namely to abrogate the autocratic power and grant a constitution by creating a ministry responsible alike to the crown and the representatives of the nation. The emperor finally accepted requested Count Witte to draft a project which, in skeleton form, he approved last Sunday, when the count agreed to accept the premiership on condition that be could name the ministers and that they should report to his majesty only through himself as the head of the cabinet.

KEEP WELL IF YOU CAN and when you need a little help in keeping well use Nature's remedies, that do not roughly stimulate but gently quicken the action of Nature's functions in a natural way. Nature's laboratory furnishes the following plants which enter into the manufacture of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot and Mandrake root.

If in doubt as to your trouble or needing advice, you can consult, free of charge, Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. All letters are considered confidential and answers bearing correct medical advice returned in securely sealed envelopes.

"I suffered for nearly eight years," writes Philip A. Feich, Esq., of Mobile, Ala., Deputy Sheriff, "with malaria, which poisoned my entire system and deprived me of my vitality. I was cured in three months by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I know it was largely due to neglect and I paid little attention to my trouble until I became so run-down and weak that I knew I had to do something at once to regain my health. I began to feel better within four days after I used the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and after using nine bottles I was restored to my usual health, feeling better than for years."

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 31 stamps.

NAVY'S RIFLE PRACTICE.

Plans For the Great Target Range at Guantanamo, Cuba.

For the purpose of making the men of the navy of the United States as proficient in the use of small arms as they are with the big guns of their ships the government is now establishing a target range at Guantanamo, on the island of Cuba, which will be one of the most complete of its kind in the world, says the Washington Post.

Guantanamo is located on the reservation over which this government has control as a naval station and is removed from settlements, so that practice can be carried on with perfect safety. Last year the navy endeavored to hold target practice at Yorktown, but owing to the danger to people living in the vicinity it had to be abandoned. Modern small arms have such great carrying capacity that a shot going wild might easily fly two miles and hit some person. After careful consideration it was agreed that there was nowhere in this country a suitable place for this practice work.

A recent report to the department shows that already 200 of these targets have been erected. When completed there will be 500, and, large as this number seems, there will be none too many. These ranges will be at 200, 300, 600 and 1,600 yards, and the firing line will be more than 2,000 yards in length.

The Guantanamo range will be utilized during the winter naval maneuvers. When these maneuvers take place there are an average of fifteen ships, with a complement of 400 men each, in Cuban waters. It is the purpose of the department to have these targets in shape for the coming maneuvers, which will be held either in December or January next.

Suitable medals and other awards for excellence in marksmanship have been provided as incentives for the men to attain a high degree of efficiency. Divided according to their records, the men will be arranged into classes, so the department will at all times know just who are the best shots of the navy and where they are stationed. The record of a ship both with small arms and the main and secondary batteries will be taken into consideration in assigning the ships of the navy to special lines of duty.

SKEE CLUB TOURNAMENT.

Contest In Michigan Will Be Greatest of Its Kind In America.

The Ishpeming Skee club is already preparing for its big annual tournament to be held Feb. 22 next, says an Ishpeming (Mich.) dispatch. With the practical assurance that President Roosevelt will be among the many thousands of spectators at the course, he having conditionally accepted an invitation last winter to be present, it is intended to make the event the greatest contest of its kind ever held in the United States.

The tournament will be international in its scope. Not only will the best skee jumpers in America take part—and these include a number of men who have won fame at national tournaments conducted under royal auspices in their native land—but it is practically certain that famous riders will make the trip from the Scandinavian peninsula especially to participate in the Ishpeming meet.

The expenses of the foreign contestants will be advanced, and, in addition, they will doubtless share in the prizes, which will be sufficiently large to induce them to do their best.

The slide on which the skee jumping will take place is being greatly improved at considerable cost. The jumps will be well above the 100 foot mark.

A Football Name.

[A football player on the Carlisle Indian team is named Kicked-on-the-Jaw.]

Football is no joke, but we're all forced to smile
And laugh at the latest by way of Carlisle.
Though Teddy was promised mild football —oh, pshaw!
This Indian halfback's called Kicked-on-the-Jaw.
The redskins have proved that their wise to the game,
And though old Bill Shakespeare asks, "What's in a name?"
There's something that strikes one with feelings of awe
In fancy cognomens like Kicked-on-the-Jaw.
Old Pain-in-the-Face is a name that brings grins,
But how about fullbacks called Poked-in-the-Shins?
And maybe the players will all follow suit—
Just think of a quarter named Banged-on-the-Snoot!
With Thorpe out of school and the rest thinking twice,
Will Morley be thought of as Bill-on-the-Ice?
They'll all have to copy this wild Seneca—
This copper skinned warrior called Kicked-on-the-Jaw.
When the craze has increased will the pride of the "frat"
Be known to the world as old Slam-in-the-Slat?
Or will the right tackle who stands like a rock
Till ambulance time be just Biff-on-the-Block?
If gridiron stars take on titles like these,
Ted's dovie of peace can feel all at its ease.
There's quiet and peace, soft speaking and law
Implied by cognomens like Kicked-on-the-Jaw.

I tried it for itching hemorrhoids and other skin eruptions and found it to be not only one of the best, but in fact the only remedy that ever gave me any relief. I was in constant torment for years with hemorrhoids and anyone who has suffered from this trouble will know how welcome was the relief I found in Doan's Ointment. It cured me in about twenty-four hours. I have not only used it myself but have recommended it in numerous cases and always with the same good results. "I think it is about time we women should retaliate on the men with some questions like these.

"'Why does a man when he finishes with a newspaper always throw it in a heap on the floor instead of folding it up neatly?"

"'Why when sent to look for something in bureau or closet does he always return and say it isn't there?'

A PASHA'S VIEW OF NEW YORK

El Hadji Abdullah of Abyssinia Says It Is Paradise.

El Hadji Abdullah Pasha, the hahim, or governor, of the province of Harar, in Abyssinia, who recently arrived at New York on the Celtic, went to the Hotel Breslin. His highness, while himself a subject of King Menelik II., is a conspicuous citizen of the Ethiopian kingdom as the religious ruler of 6,000,000 Mohammedans, says the New York Tribune. Nor will he permit the whirl and bustle of New York to efface from his memory the Muezzin's call to his devotions. Through the din of early morning traffic he mounted to the level of his apartments, on the seventh floor of the hotel, at sunrise the other day, and the two hours that followed found the faithful Moslem at prayer. Sunset was again the beginning of two hours of devotion, with his face toward the east and his voice upraised to Allah.

Shortly before noon the oriental visitor, clad in the distinctive costume of his country, with turban and dirrupp, or mantle, as the conspicuous features, left the hotel in an automobile. He was accompanied by Alexander Tarpinian, an Armenian interpreter; John Maddigan and Hugh H. Creighton, two Americans who have interests in Abyssinia. The ride of an hour about town ended at the Grand Central station of the subway. Here El Hadji was conducted to an express train, on which he made a quick run to Wall street.

"Why do you take me under the ground until I have seen all that is on top of it?" asked the visitor when he left daylight.

El Hadji's unusual habiliments commanded considerable attention in the money district, where he had a glimpse at the interior of the subtreasury and the frenzied activities in the Stock Exchange. He subsequently viewed the city from the top of the Park Row building.

"It is great," he said. "I will come here some day to pray. This is a city of many minarets. This city is paradise. Why should any man ever leave it?"

The pasha has traveled in Europe and is familiar with London and Paris. New York, however, in his estimation, is the greatest city he has ever seen. "London buildings," so he said after a ride up Broadway, "seem to be shaved off at the tops," and his comment upon the height of New York buildings was that they would average about eight stories. The hotel elevators have provoked his adverse criticism—their speed makes him ill.

El Hadji has a couple of stuffed tigers and some valuable ivories, which it is understood he will present to President Roosevelt when he visits Washington. He repudiates the statement that he has come to negotiate a treaty with the United States, which has already established commercial relations with Abyssinia. He will present a letter from King Menelik to President Roosevelt, but will simply make his observations as a visiting foreigner upon the opportunities for commercial expansion and increase of trade between Abyssinia and the United States.

VETERAN COON HUNTER.

Oklahoma Postmaster Resigns So as to Continue His Favorite Sport.

While others throughout the country are boasting the possession of the championship belts for various and divers reasons and in numerous lines, Dr. Stephen Call, an octogenarian resident of Ingalls, in Eastern Oklahoma, boasts that he has killed more coons than any other living man, and although an octogenarian Dr. Call still follows the sport, says a dispatch from Oklahoma.

Dr. Call learned to burn powder with General Lew Wallace in Mexico during the war with that country, and later he followed this same leader through the civil war, distinguishing himself on many battlefields.

The time of year is rapidly approaching when coons are the "ripest," according to this veteran hunter, and this winter will be spent, as have all those in the past, hunting in the woods.

When there was a vacancy in the postoffice at Ingalls several years ago Dr. Call won the place with ease, but the position was too binding. He soon employed another man to look after the affairs of the office so that he could hunt. Recently he resigned the office, stating that he could not find the time to give both it and hunting coons the attention they required.

The boy is now a student at the Nobles school in Tokyo. Upon his graduation he will go to Harvard.

President Roosevelt's Worldwide Hit

The president made a hit with the entire world, from the pope and London Times to John D. Crimmins, when he presented Russia to Japan, expressed in diplomatic language a hope that the best would win and finally called time, says Harper's Weekly. We guess that, barring possibly T. Jefferson, he is the only president we have had who could speak really good French. He also speaks excellent English. The most busy day was that which brought Secretary Shaw, Mr. Morgan and Baron Kaneko, one after the other. The president went to bed pretty tired that night. On Sunday he preached.

STRANGE ADVICE!

Dr. G. G. Green gives alert personal attention to his great humanitarian contract.

In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent size bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. We did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. BOUNDARY NUISANCES.

"Line Houses" That Make Trouble For Officials.

BOTH AMERICAN AND CANADIAN.

Rushing Business Done In Smuggling Goods and Selling Illicit Whisky—Clever Plan Devised to Foil Inspectors—Suggestions Made With a View to Closing Up All the "Line Houses."

The fact that "line houses" on the boundary between Canada and the United States have been growing in number instead of decreasing, despite the energetic measures of Canadian and United States inspectors, has been brought to the attention of officials in Washington, and plans to do away with the nuisance are under consideration, says the New York Tribune's Washington correspondent. The "line houses," in which a rushing business is done in smuggling goods and selling illicit whisky, lie especially on the Maine and Vermont borders and are built directly over the line. There are about fifteen of them on the Vermont boundary and twenty on the line between Maine and Canada. The proprietors have contrived a clever plan by which to foil inspectors. The goods are stored in cupboards or shelves on wheels. When a "lookout" gives the signal that an officer is approaching from either side, Canadian or American, the proprietor promptly slides his cupboard or shelves with liquor and merchandise over into the territory in which the officer cannot make an arrest. This system has been so developed that it is said many of the houses are equipped with apparatus by which the shelves move with the pressing of a button.

For fifty years the Canadian inspectors and United States government and state officials in Maine and Vermont have been struggling to put down the "line houses," but with little success. This is due to the fact that a successful raid can be made only by joint action between the officials of the two governments. The officers must appear at the "line house" simultaneously, the Canadians entering from their side and the American inspectors nailing their man in case he attempts to shift his goods into their territory. The operation in this way is apparently simple, but because of the limited force of inspectors and the wide stretches which they are obliged to patrol it has been found difficult to secure joint action, and the houses still flourish. A statute which gives American officials the right to seize goods contained in a boundary house upon which duties have not been paid has not been found to cover the situation satisfactorily. When raids have been made and the goods seized on the ground that proper duty was not paid the proprietors have made contests in the courts, and the victory has not always been for the inspectors.

There were about fifteen special agents employed by the United States government, in addition to the regular customs officers, to watch the boundary line between Canada and the United States in the space extending from Ogdensburg to Portland, Me. These men are efficient as a rule, and their reports made to headquarters in Washington show that they make many seizures in the course of the year. Nevertheless, the system of control has never worked satisfactorily.

Smuggling flourishes in spite of their vigilance, and in the matter of regulating the ranging of cattle from Canadian to American territory on farms which lie on both sides of the line it has been impossible for the limited force to compel anything approximating a strict observance of the law. When the wilderness along the line becomes more thickly settled, as it is rapidly doing, it is expected that the troubles will multiply and the force will be utterly inadequate. It is now proposed, in view of the many perplexing questions which are likely to arise in connection with enforcement of the boundary rules all along the line from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast, that the United States and Canada should agree to a joint commission to deal with the subject.

With a view to closing up the "line houses," the suggestion is made that Canada and the United States should negotiate a treaty which should provide either that no house of any kind should be built directly over the boundary line or else that a neutral belt a few feet wide should be established which would serve as a boundary zone. It is proposed that in this belt no house should be built and, therefore, that a man must have his home wholly in Canadian or American territory. It is proposed further that the forces of special agents shall be increased and that they shall confer with a view to making a series of raids upon every "line house" now in existence.

Lovers of Coffee.

The London Globe doubts whether there is anywhere in the world a place more addicted to coffee than the little island of Groix, about nine miles distant from Lorient. The customs' records show that the annual consumption of coffee in the island is about 90,000 pounds. Now, the population is 5,200, and, as the men pass practically their whole lives afloat as seamen, this large quantity must be consumed by about 2,600 women, children and old men. It works out at thirty pounds a head per annum.

A Tight Place.

They were newly married and on a honeymoon trip. They put up at a skyscraper hotel. The bridegroom felt indisposed and the bride said she would slip out and do a little shopping. In due time she returned and tripped blithely up to her room, a little awed alike. But she was sure of her own and tapped gently on the panel.

"I'm back, honey, let me in," she whispered.

No answer.

"Honey, honey, let me in," she called again, rapping louder. Still no answer.

"Honey, honey, it's Mabel. Let me in!"

There was silence for several seconds than a man's voice, cold and full of dignity, came from the other side of the door:

"Madam, this is not a bee hive; it's a bath room!"—New York Sun.

BARON KANEKO'S BOY.

Little Son of One of Japan's Statesmen Wants Harvard Degree.

An incident in the life of Baron Kentaro Kaneko, former member of the mikado's cabinet, who is now in the United States, gives an intimate insight into the relation between Japan and the United States, says World's Work.

The baron is a graduate of Harvard university. After he had become one of his country's most distinguished statesmen the university conferred the honorary degree of doctor of laws upon him. President Eliot gave a dinner in honor of the baron, after which he said to him:

"Harvard university has conferred on you its highest honor. We can do no more, but I understand there is a son in your family. We claim him as a future recipient of the degree we conferred upon you. I trust he will come to us and be a worthy successor of his father."

"He will come," replied the baron.

The baron returned to Japan and told the Baroness Kaneko about the incident. She told the little boy that he was to go to Harvard and receive the degree, and the fact made a great impression on the child. Whenever he was naughty the mother said:

"If you are not good you will not receive the Harvard degree." He always became good.

Events moved swiftly in the far east. The war with Russia came. Baron Kaneko, who had an important part in national affairs, prepared to go to the United States. A week before he started this conversation occurred:

"When do you start?" asked the Baroness Kaneko.

"In a week," replied the baron.

Just then the little boy interposed:

"Where are you going, papa?"

"To the United States," he said.

"Then I must go with you and get that Harvard degree!" exclaimed the child.

Penrose's Prompt Denial.

This is Senator Penrose's signed statement which effectually nailed the lie, circulated for political purposes, that he had a note in the Enterprise Bank:

Now It's the Vanity Bracelet.

"Now comes the French jeweler with his pretty gewgaws," recently announced a traveling salesman at the Hotel Baltimore in Kansas City to a reporter of the Kansas City Times, "and his newest creation is the 'vanity bracelet.' Ever see one? Here it is. Old gold and precious stones and jingle. A heavy anchor link chain to fit around the wrist and suspended from that by three other chains three jeweled lockets no bigger than a fifty cent piece. One is a hand mirror, another contains powder and puff, the third is a perfume bottle, and lower down by a fourth chain hangs the purse. In New York and Boston women have begun wearing them, and I predict that they will be on the streets of Kansas City before winter."

Ready to Eat Snake.

Professor H. A. Surface of Pennsylvania State college, economic zoologist of Pennsylvania, declares, says the New York Tribune, that he is ready to eat a cabbage snake or worm to prove that a widespread belief that this particular kind of worm, if eaten, will cause sure death, is entirely unfounded.

A Healthy Puppy.

"There's only one good thing about that young puppy that came to see you last night," said the irascible father, "and that is he's healthy."

"I'm surprised to hear you admit that much," replied the dutiful daughter.

"I wouldn't except for the fact that when you met him in the hall last night I heard you say, 'Oh, George, how cold your nose is!'"

—A corps of engineers representing the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad are working around DuBois. It is the line which gives the N. Y. C. its entrance into Pittsburg and it looks as if it also was seeking a connection with the Beech Creek, which is also a part of the same system. If this conjecture is true, the time is approaching when the Beech Creek will be a N. Y. C. trunk line.

—Morrison & Gleen, is the name of the new merchandising firm at Roland which now has the Parker store at that place. W. Gailer Morrison, while retaining an interest, will return to Bellefonte with his family, the first nice day after the election, and occupy his home on Bishop street, while Mr. Glenn will give the store his entire attention. Mr. Morrison finds store keeping a little too strenuous.

—Now that the leaves are falling and the ground is covered with them they should be disposed of in the following manner and not be burned. People should know that these leaves have a value as a fertilizer. Gather them in a heap in the back yard and cover them over with some earth and by and by you have several dollars worth of the best fertilizer known for plants. We see people go to the woods every spring for this fertilizer. Another thing about the burning of leaves is the danger of fire. Many a child has been burned and many a horse has run away and done serious damage from being frightened by them.

Since disposing of the property, Mr. Miller has decided to live retired.

—There was a surprise party held at the home of Mrs. R. J. Gibbs at Milesburg Saturday evening October 14th. The evening passed very pleasantly with singing, piano playing and other enjoyments. —In these days of strenuous endeavor and eager pursuit of pleasure, time to stop and think is a thing often left out "No time, no time." is the cry one hears on every hand, yet we each have the time of a life's length, and together that of a generation. What we do with this wealth of time is making history for our own day. We are daily leaving the imprint of a generation beyond us. If for a week or a month the things we have "no time" for could be registered by some unseen hand as the words leave our mouths, and side by side could be written the things we have given time to, without thought, what a wonderful revelation it would be in many cases.

Raymond, "The baby's Grandfather," by Theodosia Garrison, "That Other Girl," "The Heart Bowed Down," and the third installment of "The Silver Pin," are included in an assortment of very readable fiction. Thanksgiving menus and recipes are also provided in abundance. Published by the Crowe Published Company, Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

A GREAT SHOW.

Methodist Ladies Made a Hit With the Spinisters.

One of the most laughable entertainments ever given in Bellefonte was the Spinisters Convention which the ladies of the Methodist church gave in Petrikin Hall on Friday evening. Anybody who did not take a hearty laugh that night is lost to a sense of mirth. A lot of antiquated looking maidens made up the cast and very ludicrous were their discussions as far as to woman's proper "spear" and costume.

At the wind up a very clever novelty was introduced in Prof. Makeover and his Remodeloscope. All these old maids had to do was to step into this machine and they would come out blushing maidens of sweet sixteen.

Many clever specialties were introduced that added to the enjoyment of the evening. Misses Helen Schaffer and Miss Ella Twitmire sang a very beautiful duett. Prof. John Hosterman sang a solo which won for him a hearty encore. Miss Romie VanPelt also sang a very sweet solo which was highly appreciated. Miss Emma Aikens surprised her many friends by her clever black face specialty.

George R. Meek was especially good in the character of Professor Makeover and kept the audience constantly laughing by his witty sayings.

Altogether it was a most successful performance and the ladies in charge are to be congratulated on their efforts.

A Slight Mistake.

The local which appeared in this weeks Watchman relating to the Academy incident of Monday evening does not represent the spirit of accuracy, fairness and broadmindedness which usually characterizes the articles which appear in that excellent paper. The local referred to is a two-fold misrepresentation of facts and the natural inference is that it was inspired and perhaps, written by one who is in sympathy with the class of "street liners" worried policeman Jodon into humiliating the three Academy students on Monday night. Investigation proved that the mischief of the Academy boys consisted in a game of "follow the leader" which led them to enter and depart from stores and hotels in a long line of procession, making more or less noise of course, but positively insulting no one, nor doing any damage.

The "street liners" who are always anxious to see students of educational institutions humiliated insisted that such conduct demanded arrest, so Mr. Jodon was compelled to respond. It was a bit of hasty action, we think, when it is remembered that the Academy boys for over thirty years have occasioned no annoyance to the citizens of Bellefonte but rather have been the source of considerable life and benefit to the town. Such hastiness doesn't afford to strangers the most favorable impression of Bellefonte fairness. The Watchman basely misrepresents the facts when it says that the police locked up a couple of the leaders and the rest "spent the balance of the evening trying to get their leaders out of the coop."

The three arrested were given a good lecture by the Burgess and were back at the Academy at 8:30 o'clock in the evening to engage in their customary study hours. Every other Academy boarder was in the study hall at 8 o'clock sharp and not in town as the Watchman local states. We had hoped that all papers would consider the matter too trival to notice.

Royal Baking Powder helps the house wife to produce at home, quickly and economically, fine and tasty cake, the raised hot-biscuit, puddings, the frosted layer-cake, crisp cookies, crullers, crusts and muffins, with which the ready-made food found at the bake-shop or grocery does not compare.

Mother's Tears, Not Pain, Hurt Dying Boy.

"Doctor, will you please sew on my legs so's I can go home? You see my mamma's crying awful."

This was the remarkable request made by a dying boy in the Samaritan hospital at Philadelphia Thursday—the bravest little boy, so the doctors and nurses said, that had ever been brought to that hospital. Harry H. Wood was 8 years old and lived at 3004 North Warneck street. On his way home from school he was run over by a trolley car on Germantown avenue. Both legs were cut off.

The child's mother was called to the hospital and was there when he died.

Her tears seemed to worry him more than the pain he suffered. As he lost consciousness, and the rattle of death in his throat, his last words were: "Don't cry, mamma; I'm all right."

His office for the transaction of the business of the new enterprise will be located in Altoona."

A Town of Many Clubs.

Coudersports is evidently a town which places great stress on the marriage question for it has been the home of the Bachelor Girl club, Must Get Married Club, a male Never Marry club and now the ladies have formed a Won't Marry club. This last organization has a title that sounds like a challenge and ought to awaken the recreant Miles Standishes of Coudersport to a realization of the evils of procrastination.

A large crowd of farmers orchardists, property owners and others gathered on the Col W. Fred Reynolds farm Saturday to witness State Zoologist H. A. Surface's practical demonstration of how to spray to kill the San Jose scale and other injurious insects. Next Monday the corps of insect destroyers will be fully equipped with the most modern spraying outfits and will then start on a tour of the state, giving practical demonstrations in the various counties where the San Jose scale is destroying so many orchards. Public meetings will be held every other day, the alternate days being devoted to an inspection of the premises to tell owners what pests may be present and how to vercome them.
